

Trail Map Russell Uplands Preserve

Known as the farm of Russell's Stoner family, the Preserve became a gem in Russell Township's park system in 2004. Remnants of the farm's history can be seen in 'Diagonal Road' that once cut through the center of the property and was used to haul goods to market from Russell's farms. The original farm fields have been replaced with a mixed hardwood and softwood forest that blends with the older cathedral like hardwood forest seen along Hickory Trace ridge trail.

Under the stewardship of
Russell Township
Park District